

Staff Sergeant Taylor Bryant

Dedicated Crew Chief

Staff Sergeant Taylor Bryant is a Dedicated Crew Chief on the F-22 Raptor Demonstration Team and a member of the 94th Fighter Squadron. As a Crew Chief, he is responsible for performing detailed inspections, diagnosing malfunctions, replacing components, looking over aircraft maintenance documentation, and ensuring the aircraft is safe for aircrew to fly.

He represents Air Combat Command, the United States Air Force, and the Department of Defense at more than 20 air shows annually. His mission is to ensure the demonstration team has a quality aircraft available to perform a safe demonstration so that millions of spectators are able to see the F-22's air superiority.

Bryant enlisted in the Air Force on June 3, 2015. He was raised in Jonesborough, Tennessee and graduated from David Crockett High School in 2014. He has deployed twice and traveled around the world gaining a wealth of knowledge and life experiences. His hobbies include enjoying the outdoors, working on vehicles, and spending time with his dogs.

Assignments

- 2017 – Present: F-22 Avionics Craftsman, Joint Base Langley-Eustis, VA